Constitution and Bylaws
Introduction

The National Association of Diocesan Ecumenical Officers (NADEO) was established in 1970 to assist Catholic ecumenical officers and others committed to fostering the ecumenical vision of the Church. This was in response to the mandate of Vatican II that there be an organized effort to promote ecumenism in the dioceses of the Catholic Church. This national organization was designed to provide support of various kinds to local diocesan ecumenical officers. A web site is maintained at www.nadeo.org.

Purposes

The purposes of NADEO are threefold:

1) to stimulate an exchange of ideas, experiences and evaluations among diocesan ecumenical officers;
2) to promote programs that further the work of Christian unity and cooperation;
3) to cooperate with the Bishops Committee on Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops and with other ecumenical and interreligious agencies. The latter include but are not limited to the ecumenical organizations of other Christian churches, the National Council of Churches, and state ecumenical councils or their equivalent.

Government

NADEO is a voluntary association of ecumenical officers. Final authority is vested in the General Assembly, which meets once each year. Voting members are the ecumenical officers of those dioceses that are current in the payment of their dues.

There is also a Board of Directors, known as the Executive Board, which consists of the elected representatives of each of the thirteen ecclesiastical regions and a representative of the Eastern Catholic churches of the United States of America. An executive committee consisting of the officers of the organization meets in between regular annual meetings of the Board and of the General Assembly.

NADEO is incorporated in the State of Michigan as a not-for-profit organization with tax exempt status. It is listed in the Official Catholic Directory.

Relationship to BCEIA

The president meets regularly with the members and the staff of the Bishops Committee on Ecumenical and Interreligious Affairs. NADEO is one of the principal agencies through which BCEIA carries out its ecumenical mandate and mission.
Membership

Membership in NADEO is open to the ecumenical officers of all U.S. dioceses and archdioceses. This may include: 1) duly appointed ecumenical officers; 2) the chairperson of a diocesan ecumenical commission or their representative; 3) one who effectively exercises the role of diocesan ecumenical officer without formal appointment; 4) a member of a religious community with a special apostolate in ecumenism.

Dues

Membership dues are determined by the General Assembly of NADEO. Payment of dues is a requirement for active voice in the decision making process.

Associate Membership

Associate membership in NADEO is open to any Catholic in union with Rome who pays the associate membership dues. Associate members are entitled to receive the NADEO Newsletter and to be on the mailing list for other materials, and is entitled to voice but no vote in the General Assembly.

Newsletter

NADEO publishes a quarterly newsletter, which is sent to all members. Non-members receive the newsletter upon payment of a stipulated subscription fee.

Events

NADEO sponsors or participates in a number of events on a regular basis including the National Workshop on Christian Unity, the National Workshop on Christian-Jewish Relations, and three leadership institutes (described in the previous section of this handbook).

Publications

EDEO-NADEO Standing Committee

The EDEO-NADEO Standing Committee is a joint committee of the Episcopal Diocesan Ecumenical Officers and the National Association of Diocesan Ecumenical Officers. It was established in 1978 to collaborate in researching and studying common areas of pastoral concern in Anglican and Catholic life.

Over the years this committee published numerous reports including:
- Tale of Three Cities (1980)
- Pastoral Care for ARC Couples (1982)
- Pastoral Perspectives on Baptism in ARC Families (1983)
- Food for the Journey, Study on Eucharistic Sharing (1985)
- How in the Church, A Study of Authority (1987)
- Whither the Wind, A Telltale of Authority (1988)
- ARC Soundings: AUS Response to ARCIC (1990)

The EDEO-NADEO Committee continues as a standing committee and continues to be active. In the late '90s into the year 2000 a project was devised to display the use of authority that has advanced ecumenical life between Episcopal and Roman Catholic dioceses. Three dioceses were studied: San Diego, Milwaukee and Rochester. The study was published as Serving Unity: Exercising the Gift of Authority (2000). The committee is expanding to include the organizations of the ecumenical representatives of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

Research and Development Committee

Another standing committee of NADEO is the Research and Development Committee, organized and approved in the late 1970’s. Initially it focused upon surveys to determine the extent, kind and quality of ecumenical leadership and education. The goals were to determine what was going on at the diocesan level, in the seminaries and in Catholic educational systems.

More recently, a study is being conducted in and regarding the Hispanic community. The results have been informally communicated to the General Assembly.

Awards Committee

The Awards Committee has as its purpose the annual selection of a recipient of the James Fitzgerald Award for ecumenical achievement. This is a non-financial award bestowed for outstanding contributions and services in promoting Christian unity either on the part of an individual or an organization in such a way as to have significant impact and to serve as an inspiration to others. Nominations are sought from NADEO Board members or other ecumenical officers whose dioceses are members of NADEO. Committee recommendations are made to the NADEO Board.
